Cutting Down Trees JONEBORO (A) - At least two peach growers, disgusted freeze, have chopped down some of their trees to make way for different crops. The growers are in the Crowley's Ridge area near here. North Arkansas' peach crop, normally bringing in four to five million dollars a year, was almost a total loss. Mrs. Garland Jessup had 3,300 trees cut down yesterday. She said that after losing her peach crop three straight years, "I think it's time to try some other crop." R. In the absence of an almost complete lack of reaction from the auto industry to the UAW's bargaining requests, Reuther seized yesterday on a recent announcement that businessmen are raising a fund to conduct a "hard-hitting" public relations program against the year-around pay idea. The fund is being solicited by the United Business Committee, affiliated with the National Assen. of Manufacturers. Reuther said their goal is to raise 30 million.

Cutting Down Trees JONEBORO (A) - At least two peach growers, disgusted freeze, have chopped down some of their trees to make way for different crops. The growers are in the Crowley's Ridge area near here. North Arkansas' peach crop, normally bringing in four to five million dollars a year, was almost a total loss. Mrs. Garland Jessup had 3,300 trees cut down yesterday. She said that after losing her peach crop three straight years, "I think it's time to try some other crop." R. In the absence of an almost complete lack of reaction from the auto industry to the UAW's bargaining requests, Reuther seized yesterday on a recent announcement that businessmen are raising a fund to conduct a "hard-hitting" public relations program against the year-around pay idea. The fund is being solicited by the United Business Committee, affiliated with the National Assen. of Manufacturers. Reuther said their goal is to raise 30 million.

Cutting Down Trees JONEBORO (A) - At least two peach growers, disgusted freeze, have chopped down some of their trees to make way for different crops. The growers are in the Crowley's Ridge area near here. North Arkansas' peach crop, normally bringing in four to five million dollars a year, was almost a total loss. Mrs. Garland Jessup had 3,300 trees cut down yesterday. She said that after losing her peach crop three straight years, "I think it's time to try some other crop." R. In the absence of an almost complete lack of reaction from the auto industry to the UAW's bargaining requests, Reuther seized yesterday on a recent announcement that businessmen are raising a fund to conduct a "hard-hitting" public relations program against the year-around pay idea. The fund is being solicited by the United Business Committee, affiliated with the National Assen. of Manufacturers. Reuther said their goal is to raise 30 million.

Cutting Down Trees JONEBORO (A) - At least two peach growers, disgusted freeze, have chopped down some of their trees to make way for different crops. The growers are in the Crowley's Ridge area near here. North Arkansas' peach crop, normally bringing in four to five million dollars a year, was almost a total loss. Mrs. Garland Jessup had 3,300 trees cut down yesterday. She said that after losing her peach crop three straight years, "I think it's time to try some other crop." R. In the absence of an almost complete lack of reaction from the auto industry to the UAW's bargaining requests, Reuther seized yesterday on a recent announcement that businessmen are raising a fund to conduct a "hard-hitting" public relations program against the year-around pay idea. The fund is being solicited by the United Business Committee, affiliated with the National Assen. of Manufacturers. Reuther said their goal is to raise 30 million.

HOPE, ARKANSAS, SATURDAY, APRIL 2, 1955

Cutting Down Trees JONEBORO (A) - At least two peach growers, disgusted freeze, have chopped down some of their trees to make way for different crops. The growers are in the Crowley's Ridge area near here. North Arkansas' peach crop, normally bringing in four to five million dollars a year, was almost a total loss. Mrs. Garland Jessup had 3,300 trees cut down yesterday. She said that after losing her peach crop three straight years, "I think it's time to try some other crop." R. In the absence of an almost complete lack of reaction from the auto industry to the UAW's bargaining requests, Reuther seized yesterday on a recent announcement that businessmen are raising a fund to conduct a "hard-hitting" public relations program against the year-around pay idea. The fund is being solicited by the United Business Committee, affiliated with the National Assen. of Manufacturers. Reuther said their goal is to raise 30 million.
